

Carrie Ann Lucas – Candidate for District 5

Carrie was born and raised in a working-class family, which taught her the importance of hard work, community, and service to others. As a child, Carrie’s family struggled to make ends meet — if she wanted to attend activities like summer camp, she had to fund her own way. Carrie then sold hundreds of boxes of Girl Scout cookies to earn enough cookie incentives to go to camp. Through that experience, Carrie learned the importance of hard work, and how work can help people accomplish their goals.

Carrie grew up in Windsor and is a proud Windsor High School graduate. She adopted four children from the foster care system, and her daughters are all WHS graduates.

Carrie worked her way through college and graduate school, paying for all her education herself. She graduated from seminary, and later law school at the University of Denver. Carrie returned to Windsor 10 years ago.

For nearly twelve years, Carrie ran a non-profit program that provided pro bono legal services to parents with disabilities, and defended families in the child welfare system. Carrie is now a program director at a state agency, supporting and evaluating family defender attorneys across Colorado.

Carrie is proud to live in the Old Town Windsor neighborhood, and loves being able to walk down the street and chat with her neighbors, shop at local businesses, and enjoy events in the parks.

Carrie has the qualifications and passion to lead, and is ready to fight for the future of our community.
